Message from the President

Today Clontarf hosts the final of the Senior 2 Cup final and I am delighted to welcome everybody to Castle Avenue. This welcome extends to the President and Committee of the Leinster Branch, to the players and supporters of Merrion and in particular, their president and to-day's captain, Eddie Lewis. It gives me added pleasure that Clontarf are participating in the match and may I be forgiven for wishing Declan Mullins and his fine young side success at the end of the day. This competition is sponsored by Dundrum Sport and Leisure Ltd. and may I express sincere thanks on behalf of Cricket in Leinster for their continuing support for the game.

Let us hope that we have good weather for the match and may everyone enjoy the day.

Umpires Beware!

In a club match in Melbourne a bowler appealed for LBW. "Not out" replied the umpire. Whereupon the bowler called him a cheat and connected with a beautiful uppercut to the point of the jaw. The batsman who had been given not out was of immense stature, and being a great friend of the umpire, dropped his bat, rushed at the bowler and proceeded to throttle him. The other players had great difficulty in releasing the bowler from the powerful grasp of the indignant batsman. It is recorded that the match finished at this iuncture.

Editorial

Today we welcome Merrion 2nd X1 to Castle Avenue to contest the Senior 2 Cup Final against our own 2nd. X1.

Given good weather we can be assured of a top notch contest. Podge Hughes will have produced his usual well nigh perfect pitch which will almost certainly guarantee a run feast. It may well be that a catch held or dropped may be the crucial deciding factor in the close struggle between two well matched teams.

Today's game sees an interesting contrast between the two sides. Merrion undoubtedly have a more experienced and mature side than Clontarf, whose team is comprised mainly of younger, up and coming players.

It will be interesting to see how the young bloods such as Ronan "Redser" O'Reilly, Adam Synnott and Fergal Woods cope with the wiles of Eddie Lewis, Kevin "Ollie" Allwright and Alan Little. Alan's 8 for 4 proved too much for Railway in the semi-final and we look forward to seeing how the younger Clontarf players cope with Alan's undoubted skills. Equally intriguing will be the contest between such talented Merrion batsmen as Eddie Lewis and Ollie Allwright, both with proven Senior 1 records and the star Clontarf bowlers John Barry, Rick Collins and Paul McCready.

While wishing good luck to both sides perhaps we can be forgiven in hoping the luck and the result goes the way of this home side on this occasion.

Wish Clontarf Cricket Club Every Success for the 1992 Season

Recollections of Another Senior 2 Final

I think it is appropriate that on the occasion of the Senior 2 Cup Final, I should travel down memory lane and share with you some of my memories of a Senior 2 final between Clontarf and Leinster played 27 years ago - 1965.

Clontarf won the toss and batted. The opening bowler for Leinster was Don Geraghty (current senior umpire) who, with the second ball of the match, found the edge of Dermot Sweeney's bat and the ball flew, at catchable height, between wicketkeeper and first slip. A let - off for Dermot who never looked back and went on to score a brilliant century.

Regretfully nobody stayed too long at the other end and at tea Clontarf were about 130 for 6, with the late Neil Broderick (The Brod) and Dermot, the not out batsmen.

I can remember vividly Neil coming into the small C.Y. dressing room, throwing the bat against the wall (who else does that?), saying "I cannot \infty!??\neq play slow bowlers". Leinster had just introduced their spinner, Alan Jerrold, into the attack and he had Neil in all sorts of trouble.

Jack McDonnell, the Leinster Captain, unaware of Neil's frustrations, removed Alan Jerrold from the attack immediately after tea and re-introduced two of the quickies - A. J. and Tony Ryan. One could see Neil's eyes light up as he promptly dispatched both the Ryans into the tennis court and bowling green in compiling an invaluable 50 - what a sweet memory!

The tail hung around to see Dermot make his century and Clontarf's innings closed on Saturday evening at 226.

In those days the cup games were timeless - no over limitation - and we had about an hour to bowl at Leinster before close and captured one wicket while Leinster scored about 40 runs. So the game was delicately poised.

On the Sunday Leinster continued to slowly build on their overnight score - the chief run getter being Tony Leon.

Ikey Hughes (brother of Podge) was keeping one end going but with Leinster about 130 for 3. I introduced our up and coming "slowy", Michael Delaney into the attack - as Michael and myself were setting the field I heard mutterings behind me. "I wouldn't bowl him unless you want to lose the ±?!*% match". Yes guessed it. "The Brod" was not a great fan of slow bowlers.

Well Michael did the business taking 3 or 4 wickets with Ikey Hughes having the Leinster top scorer Tony Leon brilliantly caught by our late Hon. Sec., Johnny Bell, behind the stumps and Leinster were finally all out for 188 - Clontarf winners by 38 runs.

Sweet memories of 27 years ago tinged with sadness that neither Johnny or Neil are with us to share them with.

Kevin Harding-How is this for a pair?

In 1946 the Indian touring team played Glomorgan in Cardiff. Peter Judge battled at number 11 for the home team, was bowled first ball by T. C. Clay and remained on the field in order to open the second innings.

Sarwate took the new ball and immediately clean bowled Judge for what was a most bizarre "King Pair".

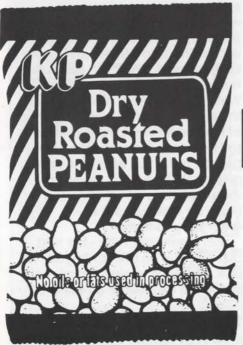

The Game of Cricket

When a striker is hurt, they are to allow another to come in, and the person hurt shall have his hands in any part of that innings.

They are not to order a player out, unless appealed to by the Adversaries.

But if the bowler's foot is not behind the bowling - crease, and within the return- crease, when he delivers the ball, the umpire, unasked, must call no ball.

If the strikers run a short notch, the umpire must call no ball.

Ireland's No.1 Nut

The Distaff Side

How many people have noticed the disappearance of the old green covers? For years they stood in the corner by the nets, only coming into service when Clontarf was hosting an international. Then suddenly, one day, they were gone. To many they were just a white (or should that be green?) elephant, but if covers could talk, what stories they would have told! Could they have been disposed of by someone with a guilty secret? Whatever the reason, the trysting place of years gone by, the venue for many furtive encounters, have disappeared. We can only wonder where the new young generation of "cool heads" adjourn to now on balmy Saturday nights. Suddenly the kids of a few years ago have become the "in crowd" of 1992. It makes the rest of feel very old. One only has to look at the vast hordes of eager young players on Monday afternoon and Friday nights to realise that the future of Clontarf is assured.

Speaking of the future of Clontarf, the younger generation of a few years ago seem to have settled down and have contributed to the recent baby boom. Every Saturday and Sunday afternoon, a steady stream of buggies can be seen, trundling around the ground. Scenes of bribery are frequently witnessed as harassed parents persuade ablebodied junior members to relieve them of their charges, and take control of their vehicles. Any business minded person could make a fortune running a club creche!

A recent Saturday night brought some very interesting visitors to Clontarf - a Maori folk group en route to a festival in Cork. As they wandered into the club in ones and twos, a buzz of interest filled the bar - who are they? Where did they come from? Of particular interest to most of the males present was a young lady who stood head and shoulders above everyone in the room. When male Maori chests were suddenly exposed, our girls all sat up and took notice. Many male Clontarfites were disappointed that the females of the group didn't follow suit. The disappointment abated as the entertainment began in earnest. Soon Kiwi songs and Dublin ditties were filling the bar with some prominent club members trying for the role of choirmaster. A good night was had by all and a return visit of the Maoris is eagerly anticipated.

At time of going to print preparations are well in hand for our annual Shorts 'n' Shades and by the time you read this, it will all be over. Hopefully it was enjoyed by all. We're just sorry that it had to fall on the eve of a cup final. I'm sure some of the 2nd X1 would have preferred to "strut their funky stuff" rather than be tucked up early (and sober), missing all the fun. Seriously lads, congratulations on reaching this final - we look forward to celebrating to-night!

Just a reminder folks - the next club dinner is on the 7th August. We look forward to seeing you all there and at the barn dance on the 14th.

Two little daisies!

The Birth of the Ashes

In affectionate remembrance of English Cricket, Which died at the Oval on 29th August 1882. Deeply lamented by a large circle of sorrowing friends and acquaintances.

R.I.P.

N.B. The body will be cremated and ashes taken to Australia.

The above obituary was written in the 'Sporting Times' of Saturday 2nd. September 1882 following Australia's first defeat of England on English soil in August 1882. Although one hundred and ten years have since passed the story of this famous test match is worth re-calling.

Test matches had been played between the two countries since the 1876-77 season in Australia but the Oval test of 1882 was only the second contest in England. The latter having won the previous encounter in 1880.

The Australian's under the captaincy of W.L. Murdoch, had started their tour on 15th May against Oxford University. Having played some thirty first class matches the finally opposed England, captained by A. N. Hornby at Kennington Oval on 28th. August.

The visitors, having won the toss decided to bat even though the conditions were very damp. The decision proved to be disastrous and they were bowled out, shortly after 3pm for only sixty three runs. The English bowlers performed superbly making the most of Peate returned figures of 38-24-31-4.

England in reply fared little better and by the close of play on the first day had been dismissed for 101- a lead of thirty eight. The star bowler for the Aussies was the "Demon" Spofforth who was in Magnificent form and secured seven wickets for forty six runs off 36.3 overs.

Australia started their second innings the following morning and the wicket played fairly easily for a time. Their openers H. H. Massie and A. C. Bannerman played with confidence and the former had scored fifty five out of an opening stand of sixty six when he was clean bowled by A. C. Steel. Wickets then fell rapidly and the tourists slumped to ninety nine for six wickets.

S. P. Jones and W. L. Murdoch had moved the score to one hundred and ten when an "incident" occurred. Following a short single the ball was returned to the wicket where W.G. Grace picked it up close to the wicket and held it for two or three seconds. Jones left his crease to pat down the wicket. However no sooner had he done so, then the great man removed the bails from the wicket and appealed. The umpire is alleged to have said "if you claim it, sir, it is out". Jones had to walk much to the displeasure of many of the spectators. Australia's last three wickets fell cheaply and they were all out for one hundred and twenty two - a lead of eighty four. England's most successful bowlers were Peate, four for forty and Steel, two for fifteen.

England started their final innings at 3.40pm. They lost two early wickets but both W. G. Grace and G. Ulyett playing easily brought the score to 51 when Spofforth had the latter caught. "W. G." followed two runs later. Amid mounting excitement the wickets continued to fall mainly to the splendid bowling of the "demon" Spofforth. Eventually at ten minutes before six o'clock the last man Peate was bowled for two and England were all out seventy seven runs. Australia had won by seven runs.

Spofforth's final analysis was 28-15-44-7 and H. F. Boyles figures were 20-11-19-3.

Hundreds of test matches have since been played between the two countries but it would be very difficult to rival the excitement of this match. England was devastated, not least the newspapers. From praising their team's efforts on the first day to designating them as weak kneed who played worse than a schoolboy's eleven in defeat. Nothing has changed in the intervening years!

The "Ashes" legend was created the following year when England under Hon. Ivo Bligh won the test series. Some Melbourne ladies allegedly burned a bail and presented the ashes in an urn to the English captain. The urn rests at all times in the Long Room at Lords.

N.B. In those days the over consisted of four balls.

Where was Mr. Tuffery?

This is a true story concerning the Australian cricketer George Giffen:

An appeal for LBW against Giffen was declined by the bowler's end umpire. However in playing at the ball Giffen went back on his wicket and dislodged a bail. Thereupon the wicket keeper appealed to the striker's end umpire who gave him out "hit wicket". Giffen, however, refused to go remarking to the umpire "what have you got to do with it, you should keep your mouth shut, the other umpire has given me not out, and I'm not going out". Heated exchanges took place between Giffen and the opposing captain, another Australian test player J. Blackham who threatened to take his team off the field. The laws of cricket were shown to Giffen, who after reading the law on hit wicket said "that law is wrong". The match continued after half an hour with Giffen remaining at the wicket. The result of the match is not known by the writer.

It is understood the George Giffen later made a public apology.
