Message from the President

A warm welcome is extended to our visitors Railway Union, otherwise known as the wheel, tappers and shunters. I particularly welcome their President Denzil Tipping together with players and supporters for this top of the table clash.

I note that one of Railway Union's most prestigious members, namely Derek Scott has indicated his intention to retire from the role of Honorary Secretary, Irish Cricket Union. On behalf of Clontarf, I would like to extend our appreciation for his dedication to this role over many years. It would be nice to think that he would be succeeded in this post by a Clontarf man!

Congratulations are in order to Enda McDermott and the 2nd XI for reaching the Senior II Cup Final which takes place in Rathmines next Saturday, and to our 1st XI who are in the Alan Murray Cup final in Pembroke next Tuesday.

The Clontarf Ladies Second XI have reached the final again - so a date for your diary is Friday August 16th in Rush - Well done Stella.

Congratulations are also in order to two of our Schoolboy members, namely Ian Synott and Andrew Cullen who have been honoured with the Captaincy of Ireland at Under 18 Schools level and Under 15 level - Many congratulations to you both.

Two of our younger players have recently scored maiden fifties on the 1st XI. Ian Synott against Railway some weeks ago and Ronan O'Reilly against Leinster last Saturday - Congratulations to you both, and may they be the first of many.

Finally, just a sincere "Thank You" once again to our advertisers who have generously supported the brochure this year. It would be nice if from time to time you could give them your support.

*Tom Prior, President
Clontarf Cricket Club*

Club News

After a slow start to the season, things are beginning to roll at last. In recent weeks, two finals have been reached with the 2nds victorious over Pembroke in the Senior 2 Cup semi-final and the 1st making the final of the Alan Murray Cup by beating The Hills.

The 2nd had a disastrous start to their game before Paul Ryan and Andy Cullen steadied the ship, with Paul going to make an excellent 109. With a good total to defend, we reduced Pembroke to 80 for 8 when some tail end thrashing gave something of a scare before victory was achieved. Pick of the bowlers was Dave McGeehan who captured 5 wickets, although Michael Ryan's spell was also worthy of note. The final is on 27th July against The Hills in Leinster C.C. and your support is not only desired but essential!!

Johnny Fitzpatrick's holiday coincided with the Alan Murray semi-final and he was involved from the start taking the first four wickets to fall. Now based in Miami, USA, Johnny is playing his cricket for the Reliance Club. He was referred to the club by a travel agent who knew our own Bill Dalton Brown. Members of the club are all from a small village in Barbados and it will not surprise you to learn that he is the only white playing in the club.

Actually, he is the only white in the 32 club league. Sports clubs are great for nicknames and, understandably, his is 'The Englishman'. While the facilities are basic, the games are seen as family days, with barbecues and picnics going on all around. We can learn a lot from that attitude. Johnny tells us that there are some excellent cricketers playing in the league including Red Stripe Cup players. And, boy, is he happy he brought his cricket helmet with him.

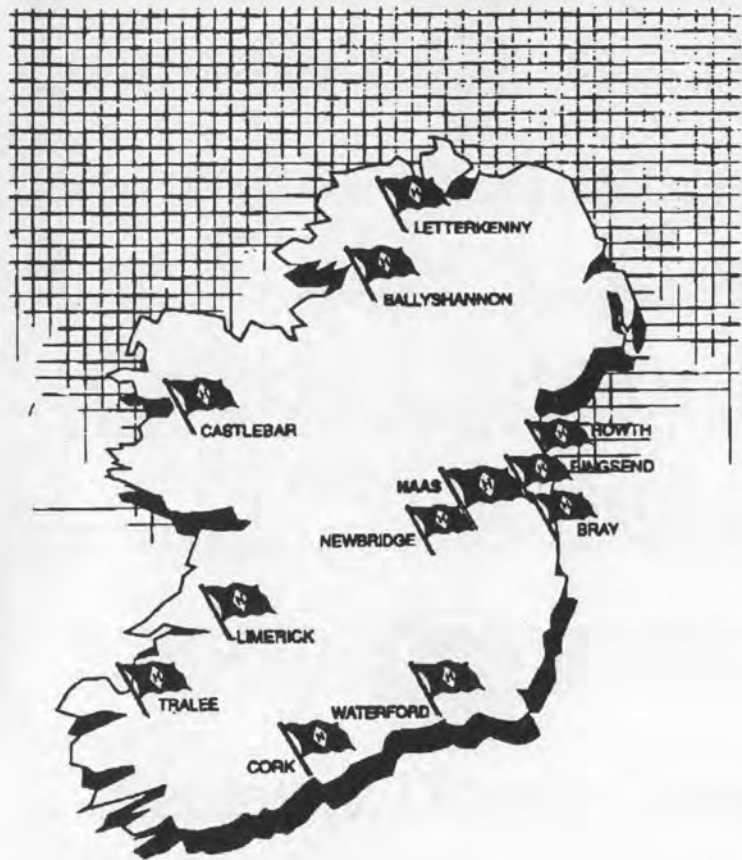

Providing players for representative teams reflects well on the club and a number of our younger players have been honoured in recent weeks. Pride of place must go to Ian Synott, who was chosen to captain Irish Schools for the game against Welsh Schools. Not satisfied with that, he was also picked as captain of the Leinster U19 team for the Oxford tournament. Ian continues the line of Clontarf players who have captained Irish Schools in recent years i.e. Johnny Fitzpatrick, Brian McNeice and Ronan O'Reilly.

Others who have been honoured recently are- Paul Ryan and Keith Spellman and Ronan O'Reilly also represent Irish Universities in the British Universities tournament and both did well in what was a rain effected competition.

SCHOOLBOY SECTION

The schoolboy season is well under way and at this stage we can report some excellent results.

UNDER 11

The under 11s are, at the time of writing, unbeaten in their section of the league, indeed, unbeaten in all games this year. They are on target to be one of the two qualifiers from their group and this is as a result of good performances from the entire team. There have been some outstanding individual performances with Niall Gallagher taking 9 wickets against Rush. Richie Reid and Bill Coghlan have, also, had some excellent games with the ball while Conor D'Arcy, Gavin Maxwell and Rob Hedigan (yet to be out this year) have all batted well. Wicketkeeper Brian O'Reilly has held some great catches as well as scoring useful runs. Special mention, however, must go to Barry Caldwell who completed the hat-trick in the game against Rush.

UNDER 13

The under 13s are a very young side, this year and this is reflected in their mixed results, so far. However, they have shown great character in bouncing back after a disappointing opening game against North County. They have worked very hard with coach, Andre Botha and have gained some great wins and even the losses are close run matters. Ronan Murphy and captain, Ross Maybury are the mainstays of the batting, while Damien O'Kelly, who had never played cricket before this year, is opening the bowling to great effect. The fielding is outstanding and wicket-keeper Stephen Lennon specialises in one handed, diving catches.

Under 15

Captain, Andy Cullen expresses himself disappointed with the Under 15s results, so far. However this does not reflect any lack of talent in the squad. Quite the opposite in fact. No less a judge than Podge Hughes was very impressed with Sean Will Barlow's batting on a poor wicket at Cabra, recently and Brian Devine has been taking wickets consistently. With some players not yet available, Andy Cullen is confident that at full strength, they can still qualify in the top four and also have a good cup run.

These teams are the future of the club, please support them as much as possible.

Special note of thanks is due to the regular coaches on Friday night sessions, the Ryan Family (Michael Snr. Michael Jnr. & Paul), Charlie Guaghan, Roger McGreal, Kevin Harding, Gerry Murphy, John Caldwell & Brad Larkin.

Thanks, of course, also to those who help out when asked.

Past Times

The cricket pitch in Clontarf used to be where the rugby pitch is now and the wickets ran in the opposite direction to the current square. The sun used to cause some problems over the bowler's arm similar to Cabra and Leinster and this lead to an interesting exchange of letters between the Club and the M.C.C.

*The Secretary
Marlebone Cricket Club
London*

*21 Mount Prospect Avenue
Clontarf
Dublin*

13 August 1937

Dear Sir,

I shall feel much obliged if you will kindly give me a ruling upon a point which frequently arises and upon which there appears to be a difference of opinion here.

The wicket on the Clontarf Cricket Club runs East and West and during evening matches in August, the sun sinking low in the west makes it exceedingly awkward for the batsman, especially as the bowler's arm is practically in a direct line with the sun.

The point on which ruling is requested is:-

"Under these conditions can an appeal against the light be sustained?"

*Yours faithfully

Dear Sir,

In reply to your letter of the 13th instant, I beg to inform you that MCC can only give decisions on the Laws of Cricket to Secretaries, or to authorised representatives of recognised Clubs, and only when the incident mentioned has actually happened.

Yours faithfully

R.S. Rait Lerr, Lt.-Col.

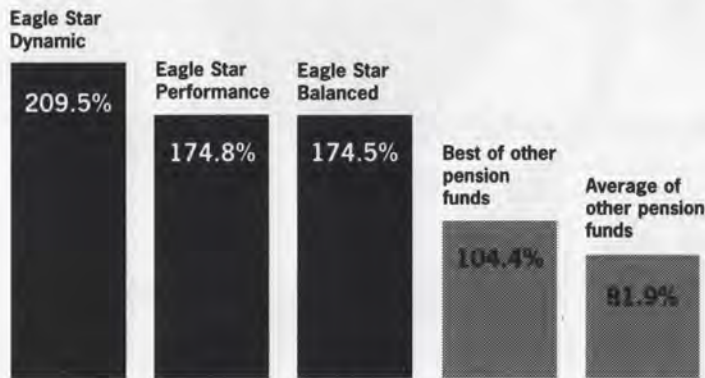

P.S. There is nothing in your letter to show that you represent the Clontarf Cricket Club. Any decision on questions of this nature must rest on a knowledge of the local conditions, and I think that the matter should be referred to the Secretary of the Irish Cricket Union in the first place. If he wishes any ruling from the MCC he can then refer it to me.

What's the next best thing to an Eagle Star pension?

(Another Eagle Star pension, of course)

INDIVIDUAL MANAGED PENSION FUNDS FIVE YEAR PERFORMANCE %

Source: Micropal. All figures and copy above and below relate to individual pension mixed and aggressively managed sectors. Returns based on offer/offer performance from 1/1/91 - 1/1/96 and do not relate to premiums paid into a policy. Unit values may be expected to fall as well as rise. Past performance is not always an indication of future returns.

If you're choosing a pension, there's just one thing to remember. All pensions are not the same. Because the better your pension fund performs, the more comfortable your retirement will be.

At Eagle Star, we try very hard to get the best returns possible for our pensions customers.

And, to date, our endeavours have been paying off - handsomely. Out of all the unit-linked individual managed pension funds available, the three best performers for the last 5 years are all Eagle Star funds. What's more, Eagle Star's third best performing fund beat the best of the rest by 70 percentage points.

All of which should make choosing a pension fund that little bit easier. After all, where your future is concerned, why settle for fourth or fifth best?

The Captain's Lament

A captain's life is a lonely one, as they're the ones who shoulder blame when a team's not performing well and contrives to lose a game. So why do people take the job? Or are they all coerced, by being plied with lots of drink and speeches well rehearsed. The dastardly plot begins to unfold sometime in September, when deciding next year's captain is on the mind of every member "If you'll be captain, I promise to train and play. I'll be at every practice - I won't miss a single day". When you begin to falter, their eyes take on a gleam, they buy you a pint and promise that you'll have a brilliant team. But somewhere between the A.G.M. and April's gentle rain, they've forgotten all their promises and don't turn up to train. The excuses come in thick and fast - "I promise I'll be down soon", "I'm doing my exams you know, and they begin in June", "My babysitter called in sick", "My dog has the flu", "I'm getting married soon and have far too much to do". You get a team together and that's when the hassle starts, for this lovely job of captain, it has so many parts, you have to find an umpire - it sometimes can be hell. You've to put out stumps and markers and get the tea set up as well. You go out to take the toss - as the coin spins you're undecided, whether you should bat or field, team opinions are divided, If you win the toss and bat first and then you lose the game,

"We really should have fielded but don't take all the blame". If fielding's your chosen option and you still manage to lose, "I really would have batted first if I'd the chance to choose".

A last quick word to all the troops, while deep inside you're quaking "Come on folks we can win this one, its ours for the taking, We've got to attack for every ball, our fielding must be tight, So come on gang, let's get out there, we can do this, RIGHT?"

By the time the match commences you're ready for your bed, while batting and fielding strategies are dancing in your head.

Do we need a 3rd man, or just a ship, a square leg out or in? Will we use our opening bowlers, or confuse them with some spin? You sort out your field placings and your batting line up's ready. You pray for bowling line and length and a batting order steady. But its worth all the anguish when you come out with a win, You hear "Well done skipper" and accept it with a grin. Your team have all produced the goods, you could just burst with pride.

The hassles are forgotten and you just think "WHAT A SIDE!!"

Thinking about Cricket Umpiring
AN AID FOR ASPIRING UMPIRES

by
Alan Tuffery

Clontarf umpire Alan Tuffery has put together a short book on umpiring based on his experience as an instructor and umpire over the past 15 years.

"The book contains plenty of illustrations of points of law and practice drawn from actual matches in Dublin cricket", said Alan Tuffery. "Dublin readers may well be familiar with some of them and might even recognise themselves! The names have been changed to protect the guilty!"

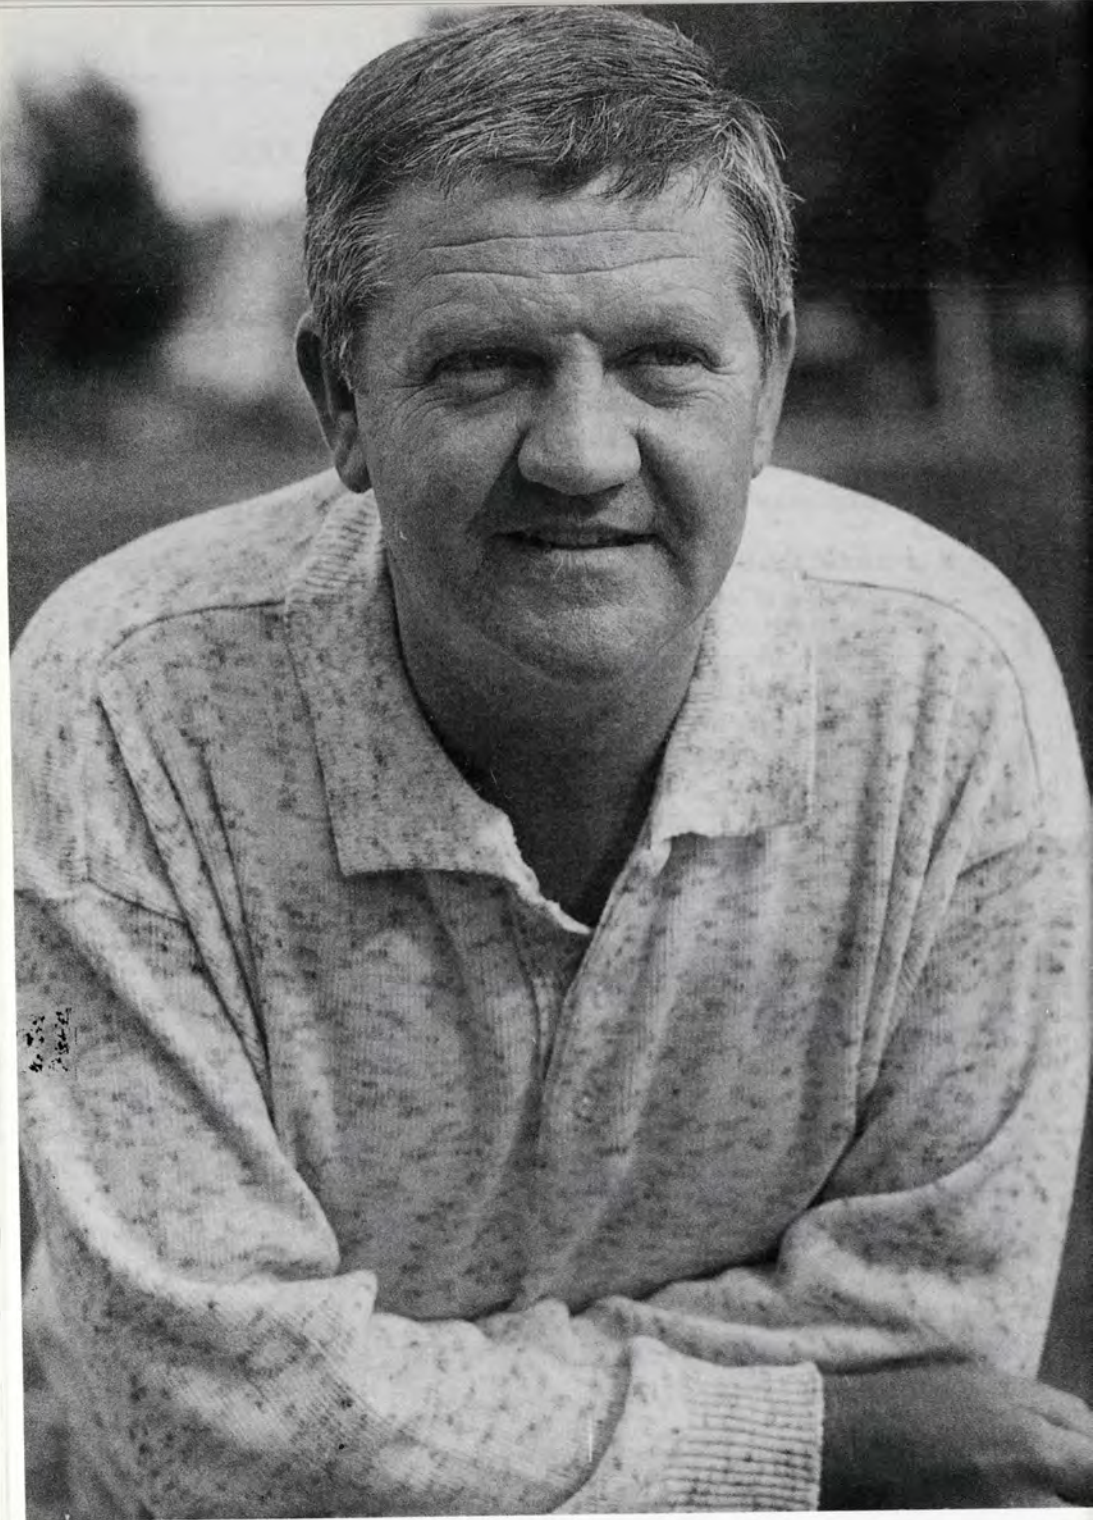

As well as stories, the 64-page, pocket-sized book contains discussions on aspects of umpiring as well as questions designed to stimulate the reader to get the gray matter going. It will come as no surprise to find that Alan has not been slow to offer opinions on several matters, although he is quite prepared for people to disagree with them. "One of the fascinations of cricket is that there can often be more than one view of difficult points - that's what we spend our time chatting about in the bar!"

Thinking about Cricket Umpiring is intended primarily for those who have some experience of umpiring. It will be especially useful for those who are preparing for umpiring examinations or who are looking for a new way of brushing up their knowledge. Because cricket can be a 'funny game' it is light-hearted at times and it is hoped that it will entertain scorers and all serious cricket-lovers too.

THE FOLLOWING IS AN EXAMPLE OF THE BOOK'S CONTENTS:-

Bill was the non-striker and was just beginning to settle into his innings when the ball flashed down his partner's leg-side, Bill called and ran. As he turned at the striker's end, he saw the umpire turn away to signal the wide which he didn't called. 'Just my luck to get out now when I needn't have run at all', thought Bill. Next ball - bowled! The moral of the story is call the wide as soon as the ball passes the line of the striker's wicket (Law 25.1).

Alan is also Training Officer for the LCUA and anyone interested in taking up umpiring should contact him.

NAME THAT CULPRIT !!!!

- A curly haired lady, a newcomer (about 1yr) chased by a certain foreigner, who likes Bridges, greasy fry's & taking (36) photo's of sleeping beauties!!!
- We can't leave this guy out, he's in the middle of everything, his (so-called) mate stole a certain lady from him, he's now trying to "grasp" a new one, & he's as proud of his "babies", but they score! (his Tongues out when he lies).
- This blondie doll fled the country after the last article, though not 'down under', & now we hear of John Byrne, though she may have had 'one' pint!!
- These days Davitt (Botha's Pet Frog) sits looking out at the clear blue sky, he has no problem getting the quickest 90 ever, it must be the excess liquid he seems to be consuming, though his tennis is getting better, as for his dancing, he can be spotted in M.T.'s on a Thursday nite, on his own!!!
- This sub-in-sometimes-babe-on-tour took a real plunge last week when we were graced with those Hi-Ho Sailors from JFK (Dave to be precise) though she took her time coming home the second nite!! (Don't ask/ Ah go on do!)
- I'm a MAN that's why they call me $%@, this guy loves to lavish women in sweet and sour sauce and lick it off, he's a real bright spark, and he's got a 'Tom Cruise' stare - look out ladies the only thing - he's 17 & knows it...!!
- This vice-captain has no real fixed abode, it's Kilbarrick for breakfast, Castleknock for lunch and some other secret spot for tea, ones gotta eat in these summer months eh??P.S. He's got a grrreat tan.
- On Sunday last we went to town, and had such a laugh, though one poor chick (who's not a playing member) met the Davy's & didn't know with whom to click she smooched one, he went to the loo, & then 'unaware' she kissed the other.
- Our little keeper for the N's played a brillo game, the umpire was her Pop, when she got that super stumping, we saw a total biased display of emotion, an umpire should be fair, he was jumping for joy, before composing himself!!
- A real card shark was this Mister, he really meant business, he swiped the lot and won £25 for his trouble at the poker night, the drinks are on him ..!!!
- The group of girls with the food, are there no more, what did someone say, but their record is 6 wickets a lap, they are assets to that Team, I reckon they deserve some appreciation, there's always the dog lady & her singing!!!!
- There's a new craze in Clontarf, not exactly a full dance routine, but it goes to the tune of "Hey Mellvena". We see Aine & Dee in 'Charlies' in bikinis!!!
- This player is dead keen, his mistro's are Majestic, and I tell ya he knows his wines, he spoofed on about acidity level, maturity, etc. (though it was 4am)!!
- A blond, short, first's player with intelligence, has started a new craze, he Presses his jeans, he looks sharp when he goes out, as do his pointy trousers!!
- His favourite saying "I'm going to meet some gals that I haven't seen in ages" yet these girls have secret identities, though we all know "Audrey" too well...!!
- He likes Chinese, he watches Tigers & Elephants fight outside his bedroom window, & he's organised a Massager for his team (so he thinks!!!)
